This monumental house in the busy Provenierswijk in Rotterdam, The Netherlands was internally renovated and has a new rooftop terrace. The residence has been completely renovated and revitalized.

On the second floor, an old wooden 'extension' on the balcony (what used to be a shower) has been removed and a new luxurious bathroom has been realized in the attic. The roof of the house has been saved from collapse and the middle section has been raised to a platform with on top a quaint roof terrace.
